A CONSIDERABLE NUMBER of outside broadcasts are made with little more than a microphone, amplifier or portable recorder. Most broadcasting authorities, however, find the need for vehicles capable of carrying tape or disc equipment for recording interviews inside the vehicle under good talks studio conditions.

Marconi's have designed and produced a wide variety of these units and in the light of this experience are able to recommend on the type of chassis, bodywork and equipment suitable for the conditions likely to be met with in all parts of the world.
